CHRISTIE®

Policy Statement

Christie Digital Systems Canada Inc. and Christie Digital Systems Innovations ULC (“Christie”) is committed to creating and maintaining a barrier-free work environment to ensure the full participation of all persons. To this end, Christie will, where it is possible and reasonable to do so and does not cause undue hardship. Alter existing policies or practices, adopt new policies or practices, adjust the worksite, or re-assign employees unable to perform the duties of their job to alternate work assignments. This Policy provides guidance for the provision of these accommodations for all current and potential employees (herein referred to as “employee(s)”).

Definition

An accommodation is a measure taken to alter or eliminate a policy, practice or physical feature of the worksite which has or may have an adverse impact on, and which constitutes a barrier to, the full participation of employees from the designated groups identified in the Federal Employment Equity Act – women, Aboriginal peoples, persons with disabilities and visible minorities. This includes all grounds covered by the Canadian Human Rights Act and is not limited to the accommodation of persons with disabilities (i.e. religious accommodation, etc.).

Accommodation means an exemption from or an adjustment to general policies and facilities for an individual with particular needs. It is provided when the policies or facilities in question are, broadly speaking, justifiable, but have an adverse impact on the members of some groups. For something to be justifiable, it must be clearly linked to the nature of the work performed or service provided by Christie.

Examples of Accommodation

Types of accommodation during the selection process may include, but are not limited to:

- Providing information about the position in multiple formats (i.e. for candidates who are blind or visually impaired)
- Ensuring that applicants who are deaf or hearing impaired can make inquiries via a TTY number or fax
- Allowing extra time, where appropriate, for tests or exams
- Ensuring that the interview site is fully accessible

Types of accommodation in the workplace may include, but are not limited to:

- Attendant services
- Adaptive technology
- Changes to work sites
- Flexible work arrangements, including, but not limited to, telework, task modification, allowing time for religious observance or other alternate work arrangements
- Converting printed matters to alternative media and reader services for employees who are blind or visually impaired
- Providing workspace and furnishing appropriate to the nature of the disability
- Allow interpreters for deaf and hearing-impaired employees
- Adapting training programs to the needs of employees with disabilities, including those with learning disabilities
- Cultural accommodation

Alternate formats can include:

- Braille documents
- Large Print documents
- Handwritten notes instead of spoken words
- Reading information to person directly
- Text to Speech Engine
- Electronic versions of documents

Overall responsibility for implementing this Policy is with Christie Digital Systems Canada Inc. and Christie Digital Systems Innovation ULC. Christie will advise employees about their right to accommodation and assist the employee in identifying the most suitable accommodation.

There is, however, a shared responsibility for ensuring that accommodation needs are identified. The employee has a responsibility for requesting accommodation including identifying, where possible, the types of accommodation she or he considers appropriate.

- Make the request to their immediate supervisor (employee)
- Make the request to the VP, Global Human Resources (potential employee)
- Identify the type of accommodation required, if possible

On receiving a request for accommodation, the supervisor will:

- Pass the request to the Human Resources department
- Participate and cooperate to facilitate the accommodation

Christie may request relevant documentation from the employee/potential employee to support the need for accommodation.

Undue Hardship

Accommodation will generally be provided up to the point of undue hardship. Undue hardship is determined on a case-by-case basis. Factors that constitute or may contribute to undue hardship include insupportable costs, disruption of operations, and health and safety considerations. If any of these factors create a burden which cannot be reasonably borne by Christie, the obligation to accommodate is suspended

Appeal

Should an accommodation request be denied or an alternative offered, the employee requesting the accommodation will be informed of:

- The reasons for the decision
- The right to request a review of the decision

The employee may submit a written request for reconsideration to the Executive Vice President of Human Resources.
